Our Mission

Give everyone in America a friend who is there anytime, anywhere.

Using the power of audio and human companionship to create deep and engaged relationships in an increasingly fragmented and isolating world.
Our Purpose

Our responsibility begins with broadcast radio; We are available free over the air to all.

As the number one audio company in the U.S., and the largest broadcast radio company, the most important responsibility we have is to the communities we serve.

Our purpose is to change the world through the power of audio, using our multiple platforms and diverse content to connect people through companionship, compelling storytelling and service to our communities.

We are committed to cultivating and fostering diversity at every level of our company to ensure that we reflect our broad and diverse audiences across the many communities in which we live and work.

Broadcast radio is the most trusted medium in America – and iHeartMedia is the most trusted radio company. 79% of Americans value the opinion and perspectives of their favorite radio DJ/personality and believe radio is two times more trustworthy than social media.

As the nation’s largest broadcast radio company, our focus on targeted local programming and the deep connection on-air personalities have with listeners has led to iHeartRadio being considered the most trusted name in radio.

Trusted Source of Information

As federally-licensed entities, iHeartMedia’s 860+ radio stations are required to operate as public trustees of the nation’s airwaves. Every one of our stations takes seriously its duty to serve its local communities and operate, as we must -- and as we desire -- “in the public interest.”

In addition to the many voluntary ways iHeartMedia’s stations improve, inform and safeguard the lives of our local listeners, iHeartMedia operates its stations in compliance with extensive federal regulations designed to ensure, among other things, that: (1) listeners are not exposed to obscene content; (2) listeners are not misled, including by hoaxes or intentionally rigged or slanted news coverage; (3) children are not exposed to indecent or profane content (which is prohibited between the hours of 6 am and 10 pm); (4) listeners have ready access to rules and limitations governing on-air contests; (5) listeners are informed whenever on-air content has been sponsored and who that sponsor is, be it a political ad or entertainment content; (6) political candidates have nondiscriminatory access to our airwaves; (7) listeners are notified which station they are listening to, and instructed on how to participate in a station’s license-renewal process. Additionally, every one of iHeartMedia’s stations maintains a public file that is accessible online.
Our Values

Our values serve as a roadmap for the company and for our employees, and help us achieve our business goals while creating a company culture that sets the tone for how we operate.

These values guide us as we continually adapt and respond to new consumer behaviors and the needs of our advertising partners; build for the future; focus on innovation; and stay on the cutting edge as the #1 audio company in America.

OUR VALUES

Listen To & Consider Dissent
We should never feel uneasy about expressing dissenting opinions (politely, please, and with specifics) as we develop new products, services and processes. Dissent forces us to examine possible flaws; we want to find the holes we need to plug to make the new ideas or existing products even better, and dissenter tell us where to look.

Innovation & Curiosity
We are always in search of new ideas. Our success is built on continuing to foster new ideas and new insights. We need to be constantly looking further — driven by curiosity.

Chaos is OK
As we develop new ideas, they’re often so new and different that they don’t yet have a structure around them. But we can’t let the fear of chaos keep us from developing new ideas – they are our lifeblood.

Respect... Everyone
We should treat everyone as we’d like to be treated, and recognize that we are a company that serves all the diverse communities in America. We must both represent those communities internally and commit to serving them externally. As a company we value diversity and respect all voices, both inside and outside our company.

Honesty & Integrity
The only way to be great is to be reliable and the only way to make great decisions is to base them on truth. We must base everything we do, both internally and externally, on honesty and integrity.

Urgency Wins & Quick Decisions
We need to make decisions as soon as we have enough information, not wait until we have “all the information.” Everything is better done sooner. This is a strong competitive advantage for us.

Take Risks & Tolerate Well-Thought-Out Mistakes
Mistakes are often the byproduct of innovation — when we try new things, we have to be prepared that many will not work and accept that some mistakes made in the pursuit of new ideas are inevitable. If we’re afraid to make mistakes, we will never take the chances necessary to achieve breakthrough ideas. When we invariably do make a mistake – yes, we will make some – it’s critical to spot it quickly — and then change or fix it as soon as we can, so a bias toward quick decision-making is also important because it will keep mistakes from becoming problems.

Collaboration, Transparency & Precise Communications
Working as a team is always more powerful. Except for information we must keep confidential for competitive or legal reasons, let’s be transparent about what we’re doing. Additionally, take the time to use precise communications so that everyone will know what they need to do and why, which is the starting point for collaboration.

Look to Make a Difference
Our stations and our company are integral parts of their local communities, as are each of us. We should remember that, even as we work to make our company stronger, we must think about what we can do to make our communities stronger, both on-air and off, and recognize and represent the diverse voices in all our communities — and within our company.
Community Outreach

Our presence in, and responsiveness to, our communities enables us to deliver on our mission to give everyone in America a friend whenever they need one – especially in times of need.

Serving all of our communities across America is the core of what we do, and we place great emphasis on serving the neighborhoods and communities in which we live and work through our diverse portfolio of platforms and assets – broadcast, digital, podcasts, personalities, influencers, social, live events and more. iHeartMedia is dedicated to inspiring and creating positive change that improves the lives of others. The company’s community programs are built on the idea that through public awareness and education, we give Americans enough information for them to make informed decisions around important public issues.

Local Advisory Boards

Local Advisory Boards (LABs) play an integral role in guiding iHeartMedia’s support of the most relevant issues impacting individual communities. iHeartMedia’s LABs bring together community representatives with broad-based expertise. Quarterly meetings serve as a forum for iHeartMedia executives, local communities, government and educational leaders to discuss issues and solutions in an open, collegial environment. The diverse boards in each market carefully monitor public opinion and assist iHeartMedia teams in identifying and implementing projects that enable meaningful public service in each community. For over 15 years, these Local Advisory Boards have improved iHeartMedia’s ability to effectively collaborate with community partners to meet important local needs.
Hyper-Local Engagement

Over the course of every year, iHeartMedia supports hundreds of local nonprofit organizations through:

• Media Inventory in the form of radio and digital PSAs and weekly long-form public affairs shows addressing specific local concerns

• Taking Action – on air, digitally and onsite with its employees and personalities in communities facing disasters

• Championing The Missions of various nonprofit groups

• Advocating The Issues by engaging local officials and decision makers through their Local Advisory Boards

• Supporting Locally Significant Events like walkathons, fundraising events and supply drives

iHeartMedia Communities

iHeartMedia Communities, the community engagement division of iHeartMedia, Inc. launched in 2011, serves to focus the company’s ongoing efforts by adding a layer of resources and commitment to address critical issues affecting the local communities we serve and to streamline all philanthropic commitments, ensuring consistent focus and messaging across all divisions and departments. iHeartMedia Communities amplifies the most pressing concerns facing each local community we serve and adds additional support and focus for stations working to address these local needs.

The company’s local and national campaigns primarily fall into these categories: Family & Social Impact, Education & Literacy, Health & Wellness, Music & Arts and Disaster Response.

Family & Social Impact
iHeartMedia addresses topical issues that will spur positive impact in local communities across the country.

Health & Wellness
iHeartMedia continually looks for ways to rally the communities in which we live and work to protect the environment and to conserve energy and natural resources. From Public Service Announcements to local long-form shows and live events, local radio stations use their platforms to inform and educate its audiences and incite action.
Disaster Assistance and Response Plan

iHeartMedia plays a critically important role in our communities when disasters or traumatic events occur. During these times of crisis iHeartMedia is essential to the lives of local residents, with our broadcast and digital platforms often serving as the sole information source for disrupted areas — providing news and critical information on everything from storm updates and evacuation routes to food banks, rescue and medical care. Because emergency broadcasting is an important element of iHeartMedia’s role in local communities, we have implemented a significant “Disaster Assistance and Response Plan,” which includes reserves of radio transmitters, emergency power generators and other news-gathering equipment positioned in locations around the country ready to travel — before, during and after disaster strikes — to impacted communities as needed. This ensures that we are able to stay on the air and deliver critical news and information to impacted areas during the most damaging hurricanes and other natural disasters. We are dedicated to continually improving our innovative procedures around disaster response efforts to ensure that our stations are ready to react at all times and can continue to serve the listeners and communities that depend on us.

First Informers: iHeartMedia Emergency Response Team

iHeartMedia has forged a deep and ongoing partnership with FEMA, which recognizes that in times of emergency, there is no more reliable source of information than local radio broadcasters. Pursuant to the federal “SANDy Act,” which helps ensure the resiliency of the nation’s communications networks during emergencies, iHeartMedia is recognized as an essential service provider and must be afforded access to disaster sites to restore and repair essential services in an emergency or major disaster. By giving broadcast radio stations official status during emergencies, the SANDy Act places iHeartMedia radio stations among a statutorily-select group of “essential service providers” – also known as “First Informers” – for public safety purposes. This statute recognizes the unique and essential role of radio stations in providing critical and often lifesaving information before, during and after man-made and natural disasters.

The iHeartMedia Technical Operations Center (iTOC) and its Emergency Response Team – made up of more than 300 iHeartMedia engineers and team members – monitors operations and coordinates emergency planning and response for the company’s 860+ radio stations across the U.S. to ensure that our local communities can be served even under the most dire circumstances.
Local and Nationwide Emergency Alert and Warning Capabilities

iHeartMedia and FEMA continually partner to improve local and nationwide alert and warning capabilities that are critical when disasters threaten public safety and national security.

AM broadcast radio stations are beacons of information for the public and are often the most listened-to station for news and information, especially during emergencies. Class A AM stations operate at higher power levels and with FCC-mandated interference protections that enable their signals to be received reliably by millions of listeners and at great distances – especially at night, when changes in the ionosphere permit high-power AM signals to travel much farther distances – often hundreds of miles – than is possible during the day. iHeartMedia owns and operates 18 of the country’s Class A AM radio stations and as a result covers most of the United States with these strong signals at night.

FEMA's Integrated Public Awareness and Warning System (IPAWS) relies heavily on Class A AM radio stations for rapid, nationwide dissemination of emergency information. Seven iHeartMedia Class A AM stations have been designated and specially reinforced by FEMA to serve as Primary Entry Point (PEP) stations to the IPAWS network to provide official emergency alert and warning information to the nation in the event of major emergencies because of their reach and interference protections. FEMA has also designated iHeartMedia’s Premiere Networks for satellite-based redundancy for its PEP emergency warning system.

In 2018, FEMA collaborated with iHeartMedia to initiate an important PEP station modernization project at iHeartMedia’s NewsRadio 700 WLW-AM in Cincinnati, Ohio to improve alert and warning capabilities of FEMA's Class A AM PEP stations. WLW-AM is the second station in the country to complete the upgrade, which includes specialized sheltering capabilities, expanded broadcast transmission capacity, and sustainable power generation to withstand virtually all types of hazardous events.
Public Service Media Grants

We are committed to making our media accessible to nonprofit organizations, especially those making a significant difference in the communities in which our employees live and work. Our media grants are allocated thoughtfully, both at the national and local levels, and each nonprofit goes through a rigorous vetting process and must comply with our public service announcement and partnership oversight policy:

iHeartMedia will only support charities and other non-profit organizations that:

- Are not involved in the abuse of human rights
- Do not have employment policies or practices that discriminate on grounds of race, sex, creed, sexual orientation, religion, gender, disability or age
- Do not discriminate unfairly in the allocation of their support according to race, creed, sexual orientation, religion, gender, disability or age

Focus on Veterans

For the last eight years, iHeartMedia has been committed to addressing veteran unemployment and employment retention. To address the national veteran unemployment crisis, iHeartMedia launched the largest public service campaign in its history — iHeartRadio Show Your Stripes, which helps returning veterans find jobs. As a company, we also actively recruit and aim to hire veterans, as we recognize their highly-specialized skills and training.

Additionally, iHeartMedia also participates in the Air Force’s Education with Industry (EWI) program. Through first-hand experience, the chosen officer will gain an understanding of iHeartMedia’s organizational structures, management methods, technology, operational methods and leadership perspectives.

Lastly, for the last two years iHeartMedia has produced iHeartCountry One Night For Our Military -- an intimate performance for our military at the iHeartRadio Theater in Los Angeles, California. The country show is also broadcast across iHeartMedia's Mainstream Country radio stations on Veteran’s Day.

Focus on Mental Health

For the last several years iHeart has worked with leading mental health organizations, including the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) and the Child Mind Institute, to raise awareness of mental health issues and foster a culture within communities that supports talking about mental health issues like anxiety and depression. Launched in 2019, iHeartMedia’s “Let’s Talk” campaign was designed to weave a virtual support system through iHeartMedia’s 850 stations across the U.S. for people struggling with anxiety and depression and to let them know they are not alone while also encouraging the general population to check in on the people in their lives by starting a conversation around mental health.

Annual Community Impact Report

iHeartMedia publishes an annual Community Impact Report that provides a snapshot of the significant contributions made by iHeartMedia’s employees and 860+ broadcast radio stations to the communities in which we live and work. As a company, we are very proud of our investment in the future of the thousands of neighborhoods in which we have a presence — using our unparalleled reach and local influence to address timely and relevant concerns facing our country and neighborhoods.

Corporate Culture of Inclusion

Prioritizing a Diverse, Equal and Inclusive Workforce

At iHeartMedia, Inc., diversity and inclusion are key to our success; as a company, we value diversity and respect all voices, from both inside and outside our company. Since our company reaches 90% of all Americans every month, listening to, understanding and integrating input from diverse voices and views are critical to our business success. Inclusion is about letting people in -- and eliminating barriers that may keep people out. Inclusion is also about people working together, creating solutions for our many programming and advertising partners across our multi-media assets.

iHeartMedia is committed to cultivating diversity throughout our company. We strive to create an inclusive culture which includes and supports gender identity, sexual orientation, race, ethnicity, religion, socioeconomic background, age, disability, national origin and more – a culture that reflects the diversity of the many audiences we serve.

It is our goal to foster and embrace a culture that empowers our employees of all backgrounds at every level of our company to grow through creativity, curiosity and constant innovation in our ever-changing industry.

Our Core Values and Beliefs

Commitment to diversity is included in iHeart’s core values, including:

Respect...everyone. We should treat everyone as we’d like to be treated and recognize that we are a company that serves all the diverse communities in America. We must both represent those communities internally and commit to serving them externally.

Look to make a difference. Our stations and our company are integral parts of their local communities, as are each of us. We should remember that, even as we work to make our company stronger, we must think about what we can do to make our communities stronger, both on-air and off, and recognize and represent the diverse voices in all our communities – and within our company.
Corporate Culture of Inclusion

Workforce Diversity

One of the company’s top priorities is to create an inclusive organizational culture – and attracting and developing an inclusive workforce that is as diverse as the audiences and communities we serve.

Workforce diversity, when defined as inclusion, drives a commitment to embrace our differences while creating solutions which serve both our partners and our listeners. We embrace those differences, and consider them to be one of our greatest strengths.

We are dedicated to attracting and developing an inclusive and talented workforce that will create and deliver a broad spectrum of content for our diverse audiences across our multiple platforms and live events. We encourage company-wide input as part of our company’s key organizational values, and continually provide opportunities for our team members to offer recommendations, insights and key learnings, as these are often representations of the diverse communities in which we live and work. We also value and ask for employee feedback when making creative and strategic business decisions.

At the beginning of 2020, we announced to our company our latest steps to enhance diversity and our goals at iHeart, ranging from committing to more diversity on our company’s Board of Directors to now requiring diversity be a part of recruiting, hiring and promotion decisions. The company is also improving its interviewing process to include a wide representation of interviewers, and recently named Michele Laven as Chief Human Resources Officer and the company’s first Chief Diversity Officer.

In addition, we have instituted a Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Advisory Committee, under the leadership of our Chief Diversity Officer, which will play a critically important role in strengthening and accelerating our efforts around diversity, equity and inclusion. iHeart’s Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Advisory Committee will bring important and timely issues around diversity and inclusion to senior management for consideration; serve as a sounding board as company policies and decisions about diversity and inclusion are made; and help guide our efforts in four important areas: Accountability, education, mentorship and recruitment.

Training & Research

iHeart conducts daily research among our varied audiences which provides us with unique insights into all of our diverse communities, and we circulate that research to our creative employees (including our programmers) and management. We also have mandatory annual Code of Conduct training and conduct sensitivity training on a regular cadence for all employees. We regularly communicate with all employees about our core values, and will soon be rolling out a Diversity, Equality and Inclusion training program to the entire company. We have directly collected (and are continuing to collect) feedback from iHeart’s Black employee community about their experiences, both inside and outside of iHeartMedia, to continue to build an engaging employee experience for all our employees. A recent example is the company’s addition of an extra paid Day of Service before the end of the year to enable employees to help support the cause or organization most important to them.

Lastly, iHeart has mechanisms in place to track and receive employee feedback that allow for employee’s voices to be heard by senior level management on an ongoing basis.

iHeart Women’s Information Network

We are providing special support and services for our other internal communities, including the iHeart Women’s Information Network (WIN), founded in 2018, which has provided special forums and activities for employees at all our locations.
Diversity, Equality and Inclusion

Promoting Acceptance and Equality Across All iHeart Products and Services

Diversity in Radio Programming

iHeartMedia seeks to provide quality radio programming that appeals to the interests and views of all of our listeners, and we believe in delivering a lineup of on-air personalities that represents the diversity, opinions and perspectives of our many audiences. Our company purpose is to connect people through companionship and compelling storytelling, and the main way that we do that is through our personalities -- all of whom represent the specific communities they serve. As a company we celebrate the opinions and differences that make our world unique, and the common element at all of our local stations is that our personalities are relatable and understand the specific interests and concerns of the people they are connecting with.

In service to this commitment, the company continually reevaluates its traditional processes, for example discarding outdated labels like “urban radio” and re-examining our company holidays. As important, we ask our programmers and hosts to reflect and respond to events and needs in their communities on a real-time basis. iHeart is dedicated to being a force for understanding and support for its entire audience population.

The company has prioritized programming to the Black, Latino and LGBTQ+ communities through over a hundred stations with targeted broadcast and digital programming and through special programming on our general market stations – and values a diverse set of creators to expose those audiences to more diverse points of view. The company also stresses service in time of need for our diverse communities. This has included a number of special programming initiatives specifically designed to address issues of racial and social justice and celebrate cultural and community traditions. More specific details can be found below and in the iHeartMedia Special Reports for 2020: COVID-19 & Social Justice Response Efforts Report.

BIN: Black Information Network

In June 2020 we launched BIN: Black Information Network, the first and only 24x7 national and local all news audio service dedicated exclusively to providing an objective, accurate, and trusted source of continual news coverage with a Black voice and perspective, and focused on service to the Black community. BIN includes both a national digital footprint and an increasing number of broadcast radio stations, with the flagship station in Atlanta. BIN is also the news source for our own 91 R&B, Hip Hop, and Gospel stations and is provided as a service to other radio operators, including Black-owned stations. BIN: Black Information Network is run by senior Black employees of the company.

BIN was founded on an innovative business model; instead of being supported by traditional advertising, BIN is enabled by a group of well-known brands as Founding Partners who provide long-term support to allow BIN to focus solely on its mission of building this important platform for Black journalism and trusted news.

Diversity in Podcasts

iHeart has pledged that 50% of the new podcasts we launch on the iHeartPodcast Network will be from female and diverse creators. This means partnering with the best and brightest creators to support their vision in podcasting, whether it’s shows they host themselves or giving them a platform to discover and launch new talent. We also recently announced The Black Effect Podcast Network, majority-owned by leading media personality Charlamagne tha God of iHeart’s Power 105.1 and the nationally-syndicated The Breakfast Club; this is the world’s largest podcast publisher dedicated to Black listeners, bringing together the most influential and trusted voices in Black culture for stimulating conversations around social justice, pop culture, sports, mental health, news, comedy and more.

We are also the leader in Hispanic podcast programming. We have an exclusive distribution and sales deal with ReVOLVER, the biggest Latino podcast network in the country, and we are building a slate of original podcasts through the iHeartLatino Podcast Network, a joint venture with Enrique Santos, Chairman and Chief Creative Officer of iHeartLatino, starting with his own fully hosted show, Hola My Name Is.

Additionally, we partnered with Seneca Women Podcast Network, a new podcast network to connect and amplify women’s voices worldwide, to co-produce and distribute a slate of high-quality, women-focused podcasts in the areas of women in business, leadership, current events, health and more, including Seneca’s Conversations on Power and Purpose, 100 Women to Hear and Made By Women.

Diversity in Live Events

iHeartMedia produces over 20,000 local events every year that represent the diverse communities we serve. Additionally, iHeartMedia’s nationally produced tentpole concerts are a representation of the collective audiences we reach. In fact, the main purpose of the annual iHeartRadio Music Festival is to bring together the most diverse group of artists and fans across all genres to unite around their common passion — music.

2020 Program Initiatives

Below is a sampling of iHeart events and programs serving our diverse audiences and communities:

- “Can’t Cancel Pride: A COVID-19 Relief Benefit for the LGBTQ+ Community,” a virtual relief benefit designed to help raise visibility and funds for LGBTQ+ communities most impacted by COVID-19. Can’t Cancel Pride demonstrated that while in-person Pride events were interrupted around the world, nothing can cancel the heart of Pride and the spirit the LGBTQ+ equality movement embodies.

- In our 160 markets we do local programs and events, targeted toward understanding in communities, raising money and awareness for philanthropic causes associated with these communities. In each local market, iHeart leaders work closely with local leaders to identify and serve specific needs and connect these individual communities in times of crisis.

- Building Black Biz, a program designed to support and grow local Black-owned businesses in a number of communities around the country, beginning with the New York metro area and rolling out in other markets as well. The company is donating hundreds of millions of media impressions to the program, which features local successful entrepreneurs explaining how they started their business and what advice they would give to those thinking of doing the same. The companion podcast will feature successful Black business owners, executives and other notable trailblazers offering advice and business guidance.

- iHeart worked closely with organizations including When We All Vote, NAACP, The National Urban League and others to invest in ensuring Black voter participation in the 2020 presidential election. These campaigns included radio and digital PSAs; on-air interviews; and local activations encouraging voters to vote early and safely, if their state allows, and to have a plan to vote on Nov 3. iHeart also offered its platform and invited listeners, musicians, cultural influencers and athletes including Jason Derulo, John Legend, DJ Khaled and others through its “Why I’m Voting” campaign. Additionally, representatives for When We All Vote and the Urban League will appear on iHeartRadio’s national long-form community affairs show for a live interview to air the weekend before election day discussing the importance of Black voter turnout at this critical moment in history.

- All of our stations and markets have deep relationships with thousands of local groups working locally to positively impact our communities. We stage over 100 live and virtual events targeted to a diverse audience, including Powerhouse in New York, WGCI Summer Jam in Chicago and REAL Street Fest in Los Angeles; iHeartRadio Fiesta Latina, one of iHeart’s national tentpole events; and the iHeartRadio Music Festival, which includes all genres of music, including Hip Hop and R&B.

In addition, iHeart uses national and local PSAs to celebrate annual observances like Black History Month (Feb.), Hispanic Heritage Month (Sept), National Pride Month (June), LGBTQ History Month (October), World AIDS Day (Dec), GLAAD Spirit Day (October), International Women’s Day (March), National Women’s History Month (March) and others that honor and commemorate some of the most important people, groups and movements in our country’s history.

Pride Radio

iHeartRadio is proud to support the LGBTQ+ community and strives to provide the most relevant LGBTQ+ news and information to its listeners every day. Multicultural Influence

Addressing the Specific Needs and Concerns Affecting Multicultural Communities

iHeart reaches over 90% of all Americans across every demographic through our 860+ broadcast radio stations nationwide -- including 92% of the Black community, 92% of the Latino community, and 91% of women -- in addition to the thousands of digital stations on our iHeartRadio platform across all genres and our broad and diverse reach as the number one commercial podcast publisher.

Multicultural Programming & Content

iHeart has a long and rich history of creating relevant content for multicultural communities. This includes radio stations and programming specifically targeted to those communities; ongoing community outreach and support for multicultural communities; and special programming and support for multicultural-owned and targeted businesses as well.

We believe putting diverse talent on the air creates role models for our audiences and fosters understanding among diverse audiences. To that end, we create formats that serve diverse audiences including Black, Latino, LGBTQ+, and more; we create special forums, including virtual Town Hall meetings to examine key issues, especially at critical moments; and we use our podcast networks and live events (including events like the iHeartRadio Fiesta Latina and others) and our digital stations to super-serve all these communities. Almost all our major morning shows on the radio are now either hosted by women or include a female cohost in a prominent position, and that kind of diversity also extends to the Black, Latino and LGBTQ+ communities. Here are some examples of our diverse on-air talent:

- The Breakfast Club, with Charlamagne Tha God, DJ Envy and Angela Yee on Power 105.1 in NYC and syndicated nationwide
- Big Boy at Real 92.3 in Los Angeles
- Cruz, The Cruz Show, Real 92.3 in Los Angeles
- DJ Clue Power 105-1/NY

Additionally, we are building a slate of original podcasts through the iHeartLatino Podcast Network, a joint venture with Enrique Santos, starting with his own fully hosted show, Hola My Name Is.
Social Justice

iHeartMedia stands against racism and injustice and as the number one audio company in America we believe in using our resources — our reach, our multiple platforms, our programming, our industry-leading personalities, our relationships with our audiences and our commitment to serve all our communities -- to have the greatest possible positive impact on our diverse audiences.

Our stations serve as voices for their communities, and since our company reaches almost everyone in America we believe we have a special responsibility to help bring the country closer together. We believe that the only way to drive lasting positive societal change is for people to come together, respect differences, listen to all voices and foster understanding.

Our listeners depend on us to help them make sense of what they are seeing and feeling during times of social upheaval, and to try and answer critical questions of how to help drive fundamental changes that positively impact how we treat each other. We are dedicated to helping our audiences create real and positive change; giving them the outlet they need to share their views, their ideas, their concerns and their pain; and perhaps most importantly, to using all our platforms to enable all voices to be heard.

We have listed highlights below outlining some of our stations’ actions during 2020; a more comprehensive look at these efforts can be found in the iHeartMedia Special Reports for 2020: COVID-19 & Social Justice Response Efforts Report.

› Leading up to the 2020 election cycle, iHeart teamed up with leading civic engagement organizations working to ensure Black voter participation including When We All Vote, The National Urban League and the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.

› iHeartMedia joined forces with the NAACP to help launch Invisible Hate, an interactive digital and social education experience and tool aimed at exposing historical truths and contexts behind 700+ Confederate monuments and symbols across the United States.

› iHeart has hosted a number of guests on the iHeartMedia Communities National Public Affairs Show that each discussed various issues affecting communities of color including voting rights, police brutality, census participation and more.

› Because the news impacted the entire country and transcended formats, our news coverage from 24x7 News Network was heard across all stations and formats. The coverage included special reports and live on-scene and ongoing coverage from Regional News Centers in the Midwest, Northeast, Southeast, Midsouth and Southwest Pacific Regions as well as New York City, Washington, DC, Ohio Valley and Florida.

› iHeartMedia Radio stations developed locally driven initiatives to address the needs and concerns of their individual listeners.
Our People

Radio is synonymous with community. It is our employees’ passion and dedication that drive our success and build our communities and help make the world better for us and future generations.

We work to serve our communities through music, information and companionship and hire people who are effective communicators and share our purpose of improving the lives of children and families across the U.S. through our airwaves and other platforms.

We employ thousands of people across America who have dedicated their careers to serving the public — donating millions of volunteer hours annually, helping to raise billions of dollars for a countless number of organizations and remaining on the front line when natural disasters occur.

iHeartMedia Disaster Relief Fund

In times of greatest need, our employees act as first responders -- often leaving their homes and living in studios for days, sometimes with family members, and with limited food and rest, to serve their listeners and communities at times when it is needed most. Our team’s efforts during disasters truly highlight the commitment of our people and our company to the communities they serve.

iHeartMedia established the iHeartMedia Disaster Relief Fund in 2005 to aid the families of our own team members who are impacted by natural disasters. The Fund is available to support iHeartMedia employees who require assistance as the result of a declared natural disaster, such as a tornado, flood, earthquake or hurricane.

Local Spirit Day of Service

We believe that we have a profound obligation to help shape the way our entire company — from our markets to individual stations and talent across our multiple platforms interacts, educates and connects with the public and we have made it a company priority to use our reach into communities, our unparalleled connection to our listeners and our broad array of assets to positively touch the lives of others. Every full-time iHeartMedia employee receives one additional paid leave day each calendar year to volunteer at an organization of their choosing. In 2020 iHeart added an additional Day of Service to enable employees to help support the cause or organization most important to them.

Environmental

Protecting the Future of Our Planet

At iHeartMedia our commitment to the environment spans every area of our business and we are continually looking for ways to reduce our environmental footprint at our stations, executive headquarters and at our live events, and to model the proper behaviors for our employees. Additionally, we support number of nonprofit organizations that are changing the world by helping solve pressing issues facing our planet.

Greener Offices/Studios

- HeartMedia executive offices are LEED certified.
- LED REFIT: iHeartMedia routinely conducts opportunity assessments to reduce electricity usage. In 2020, iHeartMedia will begin replacing fluorescent lighting with LED lighting across its facilities to reduce power consumption and ultimately long-term waste output.
- MDCL: iHeartMedia has implemented the use of MDCL technology which allows broadcasters to reduce the power consumption in radio transmitters during periods of low audio activity or silence -- resulting in a 25% reduction in electricity consumption.
- We are working to reduce the number of studios that we construct. That results in lower construction cost as well as reduced cooling and power needs which of course results in lower power consumption. Additionally, when we build or renovate existing studios we take measures to minimize our environmental footprint.

iHeartRadio Earth

In 2020, iHeartMedia launched iHeartRadio Earth, a long-term sustainability initiative designed to inspire iHeart’s millions of listeners to take action to positively impact the environment. iHeartRadio Earth was developed in partnership with the National Environmental Education Foundation and VolunteerMatch and was designed to sharpen the company’s focus on sustainability with the goal of increasing listeners’ knowledge of simple actions they can take every day to help the environment. The campaign is rooted in the belief that millions of small actions have the potential to make a massive difference for the environment.

Since the program’s inception in April, iHeart has contributed over $2 million in donated media across all iHeartMedia stations.
Reducing Our Office Footprint

We are closely monitoring our long- and short-term ability to reduce our office footprint and consolidate locations when possible -- to keep our employees healthy, to promote work-life flexibility and to diminish our consumption of environmental resources.

One of the key advantages to working at iHeart is the company’s ongoing commitment to modernization, from software, platforms and technology to office space. Given what we have learned about remote working during the pandemic, we are now well-positioned to modernize and resize many of our office spaces and further reduce the impact of our environmental footprint.

Below Are Some Of The Core Focuses Of Our Office Modernization Effort:

› A workplace focus on active, branded environments with a combination of both individual and shared spaces, as new realities have given us the chance to re-evaluate our facilities in order to bring teams together in a different, more efficient way, while maintaining energy in a collaborative environment

› New “Studio of the Future” equipment, with flexible, shareable studios

› Relocations to new, branded spaces along with changes planned for those markets which will remain in the same place and which will benefit from the new look and technology

› Improving employee flexibility, productivity and quality of life (e.g., reduce time spent commuting)

Editorial Guidelines and Broadcast Standards

Ensuring Trustworthy and Value Information for All Audiences

We have mandatory annual training on FCC, EAS and DMCA compliance as well as a social media policy and call screeners are used for all talk-based shows to filter incoming calls and remove any concerning callers.
